

Meet the Careers Adviser September 2026

Who am I?

Andy Marriott is a Level 6 qualified careers guidance adviser with an extensive background in working in schools across Essex, providing support to students. Andy has also worked in both the FE and HE sectors in student recruitment and enrolment.

Andy is employed by Directions IAG Ltd (an independent Careers Information, Advice and Guidance Company, who provide impartial careers guidance services to schools, academies and colleges and are recognised as one of the leading providers within Essex. Directions has achieved matrix quality standard accreditation for our Careers Information, Advice and Guidance service.

Andy will provide impartial, independent advice and guidance, allowing our young people to come to their own decisions rather than making up their minds for them. He will meet pupils on a one-to-one basis to discuss what they would like to do after they leave school. He will help them to make realistic choices about education, training and work by listening to their ideas, discussing their interests and skills, and providing information on different jobs. In addition, he will be working with lower years, providing group work sessions and attending some events.

Where can you find Andy?

Andy is based in the Careers Office opposite room S16. Form tutors will tell pupils when and where their career meetings will be and they will also be given an appointment slip on the day of the interview.

About Andy

Andy has an excellent understanding of young people. He recognises each young person as an individual with strengths, talents and aspirations. He will use creative techniques to help you fully unlock your potential, both in the world of work and in everyday life.
